PROMOTIONAL CONTENT:

Professional Development Workshop Invitation – BAM 2025 Shaping Sustainable and Inclusive Futures: Exploring Industry 5.0 and Society 5.0 through Research, Policy, and Practice

Are you passionate about technological innovation, sustainability, and inclusiveness in industry and society?

Looking to deepen your understanding of strategic management, policy, and societal impact?

Then this Professional Development Workshop (PDW) is designed especially for you – BAM delegates.

In an era defined by digital transformation, sustainability imperatives, and increasing geopolitical and institutional disruptions, this workshop provides a vital space to explore how management research and practice can proactively respond and contribute to shaping sustainable and inclusive futures.

Focusing on the transformative frameworks of Industry 5.0 and Society 5.0, this online PDW will introduce you to forward-thinking approaches that move beyond traditional economic models – embracing human-centric, sustainable, and inclusive development.

You'll gain valuable insights into how policy and practice are evolving globally and how management scholars and professionals can meaningfully contribute to this transformation. With perspectives from policy experts, real-world case studies, and a diverse expert panel, the session will ensure practical relevance and foster cross-disciplinary collaboration.

Drawing on contributions from a wide range of BAM tracks – including Strategy, Innovation, Technology Management, Public and Non-Profit Management, and Responsible Business – the keynote talks and interactive panel discussions will offer rich value for:

- Researchers at all career stages
- Policy-engaged scholars
- Practitioners seeking to expand their knowledge and impact

 Join us on Monday, 1st September at 10:00 AM
