Title: Getting the balance right? A Mismatch in Interaction demands between Target and Judge Impacts on Judgement Accuracy for Some Traits but not Others

Dear Dr Helen J. Wall,

I am pleased to confirm that your paper "Getting the balance right? A Mismatch in Interaction demands between Target and Judge Impacts on Judgement Accuracy for Some Traits but not Others" has been accepted for publication in Personality and Individual Differences.

Congratulations on the acceptance of your paper for publication in Personality and Individual Differences. As you may know, PAID is the official journal of the International Society for the Study of Individual Differences (ISSID) which was founded by Professor Hans Eysenck in 1983 to promote this important field of study in psychology and related social and biological sciences.

We are pleased to invite you to join ISSID, should you not already be a member of our association. We have every confidence that you will benefit from connecting with its members, attending the bi-annual conferences, as well as receiving a subscription to PAID. The membership fee is quite nominal and the application form can be found at: <http://issid.org/membership/>

You can also learn more about ISSID through our website at <http://www.issid.org/> where we would encourage you to read about the society as well as visit some of the previous conference sites that have been posted in anticipation of the July 2015 conference to be held in London, Ontario, Canada. And of course, you are already familiar with PAID, having ected to publish your work in our journal.

We do hope you will accept our invitation to join ISSID and continue to publish your research in PAID.
